About Me

Anthony Shieh, pronounced /Shyeh/, is a Taiwanese-Filipino-Dutch Novelist, Author, and Speaker. His works, like VERGE, White Mocha Americano, and Death of a Loved One in the Time of Pandemic (Philippine Inquirer's Noteworthy Books of 2024) have gained attention. Shieh's writing has earned him recognition as a "Rising Author Redefining the Future of Literary Genres" by The Manila Times and as "a distinctive voice in modern Philippine literature" by CHiNOY TV.

He consistently writes with a strong sense of inclusivity, ensuring that every character in his stories has the opportunity to be heard and understood. Through this approach, he champions the importance of representation, showing that everyone deserves a platform in literature to share their stories.

Published Works

- 2021 DEATH OF A LOVED ONE IN THE TIME OF PANDEMIC (Non-Fiction)
  - A memoir about the journey through grief, pain, isolation, fear, and optimism in these crazy times and how this pandemic robbed all of us (people who lost a loved one during this worldwide phenomenon) of the capacity to give the proper burial for their loved ones and how writing has been his outlet to heal.
- 2022 WHITE MOCHA AMERICANO (Fiction)
  - A novel about a love story that gradually blossoms from random chances, wanderlust, traditions, harmony, and a series of serendipities between a coffee lover, who loves the idea of being in love, and an enigmatic regular patron of Kapa-Kapa Cafe. Kapa-Kapa Cafe houses several love stories one of which is detailed in the first BL novel written by Anthony Shieh.
- 2023 VERGE (Poetry)
  - A collection of poetry that delves into the realms of pensive and reflective experiences in life, capturing the essence of what it means to exist on the Verge.
